

Alternate Quiz #12

(Lessons 45 – 48)

Name _____

L.5.1b 1. Fill in the perfect tense forms of the verb talk.
has _____, had _____, will have _____

L.5.1a 2. Underline the prepositional phrase in this sentence. Write the object of the preposition.
Beautiful paintings hung throughout the museum. _____

L.4.3c 3. Write I if the message uses informal English or F if it uses formal English.
_____ You did a very nice job on your report, Miles.
_____ Way to go, Miles! You're rockin that book report.

L.5.1 4. Read the sentence below.
Seven eager children got in line for ice cream.
Which adjective tells what kind? _____
Which adjective tells how many? _____

L.5.3a 5. Write the subject of each sentence.
We'll try our best to win tonight. _____
Whatever you do, keep your eye on the ball. _____
Don't swing yet! _____

L.5.2e 6. Write the plural form of each noun.

alley _____

busboy _____

subway _____

- RI.4.7 7 – 8. Study this chart about the people of Japan and complete the items that follow.

The People of Japan
Question	Answer	Details
What is the language of the people?	Japanese, a complex language; written in "characters" that represent whole words or ideas	read from top to bottom; students learn over 1,850 characters
What do children study?	reading, math, physical education, music, and art	long school day; many hours of homework; study year-round; field trips
How do people earn a living?	service, manufacturing, new product research & development	work in offices, factories, labs (teamwork on projects)

How is the Japanese written language different from the English written language?

How might someone in Japan earn a living?

- L.5.1 9. Which pronoun is the direct object in the sentence below?

They lifted me over the wall on the trust walk. _____

- w.5.5 10. Mark the errors. Use two different proofreader's symbols in each of the following sentences.

Charles goodyear is famous for discovering a sturdy type of rubber

He patented his prodcut in 1944 Akron, Ohio.

Today Goodyear products sold all over the World!